US Foods Donates $100,000 to the American Red Cross to Support Hurricane Ian Relief Efforts

2022-09-28

Donation Will Directly Support Relief Operations in Tampa, Florida and Surrounding Areas Impacted by the Storm

ROSEMONT, Ill. – Sept. 28, 2022 – US Foods Holding Corp. (NYSE: USFD) announced today that the company has pledged to make a $100,000 donation to the American Red Cross in support of Hurricane Ian relief efforts in Florida and the surrounding areas impacted by the storm.

“At US Foods, we believe that when disaster strikes, we can play an important role in supporting impacted associates, customers and the communities,” said Lisa Gibbons, vice president of corporate communications, US Foods. “The aftermath of these natural disasters is devastating for those affected. We are proud of our long-standing relationship with the American Red Cross and community food banks around the country to aid in critical disaster relief operations in these times of need.”

The company has a long history of supporting disaster relief efforts. Throughout 2021, US Foods and its associates gave more than $400,000 in monetary and product donations directly to relief efforts supporting major disasters, including the Texas Winter Storm, wildfires across Washington and Oregon, and Hurricane Ida.
