ROSEMONT, Ill., November 8, 2021 –US Foods Holding Corp. (NYSE: USFD), announced today that the company has been awarded a 2021 Top Workplace honor by the Chicago Tribune. The honor recognizes companies in the Chicago area that create and sustain a positive and productive culture for their employees. US Foods was ranked number 26 among the 200 Chicago-area workplaces featured on the list.

“It is an honor to be recognized as a Top Workplace by the Chicago Tribune, especially when the judges are our valued associates,” said David Works, executive vice president and chief human resources officer of US Foods. “At US Foods, we are committed to creating an inclusive and dynamic workplace where our associates can grow and thrive, and a culture where our associates know they matter and that their voices are heard. This honor reinforces that this commitment is indeed reflected in how our associates view their everyday work life, and that makes us all very proud.”

The Top Workplaces list is based solely on anonymous associate feedback gathered through a third-party survey that uniquely measures 15 drivers of engaged cultures that are critical to the success of any organization, including alignment, execution, and connection. Some of the top scoring survey items gathered from US Foods Rosemont-based associates related to associates feeling well-informed about decisions, having managers who care, and encouraging different points of view. In addition, collaboration and inclusivity were some of the most common words used to describe the US Foods culture.
